DEVELOPMENT SERVICES
Request for Proposals
Job Number 30-12-CMO
ORGANIZATIONAL REVIEW
Organizational Evaluation of Development Services Functions

The City of Kirkland, Washington is seeking a qualified consultant to conduct an organizational and operational analysis of the City's development services functions and to assist the City in refining its staffing and service delivery model.

Background

The City of Kirkland provides development services from three departments that coordinate internally through a Development Services Team composed of division managers from the Planning and Community Development Department, the Public Works Department and the Fire and Building Services Department.

- Planning and Community Development provides long range and current planning services through the review and issuance of land use permits and the review of building permits for zoning code compliance. The department is also responsible for code enforcement services.
- Public Works Development Services Division provides review, permitting and inspection services for public and private street and utility improvements related to building, land surface modification, projects and right-of-way permits. The Public Works Division is also responsible for all traffic impact review as well as providing general day to day customer service and public information for all Public Works issues.
- The Fire and Building Department's Building Division provides permit processing, plan review and inspection services for building, mechanical, electrical and plumbing permits.
- The Fire and Building Department's Fire Prevention Division provides permit processing, plan review and inspection services for building, land use, fire suppression and alarm permits. These functions were reviewed in a recent fire department study so the scope of this study will be limited to how this division interacts with the other development services divisions.

On June 1, 2011, the City of Kirkland annexed an area of approximately 31,000 new residents, bringing the total city population to 81,000. Additional staffing was added in all development services departments to address the increased workload associated with development in the larger City. At the same time, the current recession has caused a significant slow down in development activity resulting in the addition of fewer staff than had been anticipated. Over the past year, the City has also been implementing a new permit system which went "live" on April 1, 2012.

The development services departments commissioned two permit process improvement studies between 2007-2009 that resulted in operational changes and code amendments intended to improve permit processing times and customer satisfaction.

An upcoming remodel of City Hall will provide an opportunity to optimize the City's development services customer interface and interdepartmental coordination by relocating and/or co-locating selected functions. A City Hall space planning and renovation project will run concurrent with the Development Services Organizational Study.

Scope of Work

The consultant work will include a review of current conditions, an evaluation of future service demands, and an analysis of opportunities for organizational changes and process improvements that can further enhance customer service and achieve efficiencies.
